

IT'S TIME
TO PLAY

JEW PARDY!

A Virtual Jewish Trivia
Contest is Coming To Congregation Beth Abraham!
(with a little help from zoom)

- Tuesday, May 19 7:00 PM
- Play on zoom
- Prizes for winning teams
- It's free!
- Have a glass of wine or a nosh while you play

Individuals or teams of two are welcome to play.
Teams of two must reside in the same house.

The rules are simple and will be explained at the beginning of the contest. Basically there will be four rounds, with three questions in each round. There will be an easier question, a medium question and a more challenging question in each round. The easy question is worth two points, the medium is worth four and the difficult question is worth six. At the end of the four rounds there will be a final question. Before the final question you can risk up to half of your total points betting on your success with the final question. If you're right, your wager will be added to your total. If you miss it, your wager will be deducted. You will know the subject of the final question before you make your wager.

Here are the next steps:

Contact us at info@congregationbethabraham.net or click on the link below. Registration will be first come, first served. There will be a ten team limit so be sure to RSVP ASAP. The deadline for registration is Friday, May 15 but enrollment may close earlier if we reach our ten team limit before then.

Before the contest begins you'll receive a zoom invitation from "Trivia Contest Maven," Joel Weiss. Joel will be the MC for the contest and also the person responsible for the questions – none are impossible but none are insultingly easy either.

Hope to see you on the 19th
